

Rhode Island Coventry Site

Facility and Location

The Coventry site is a 15 acre site northwest of the city of Coventry which was originally utilized as a NIKE Command and Control Center before becoming an Air National Guard facility. Currently, the site houses two Army National Guard units (Counter Drug Support Program and the 13th Civil Support Team) and a U.S. Property and Fiscal Office satellite. These groups primarily use the site for equipment storage and administrative offices. Tenants of the facility include the FAA and Civil Air Patrol. There has never been a range located on the site.
